

The Corona Virus Scare

'Stay indoors!' the message loud and clear,
Everything has come to a stand still.
All activities are tinged with fear,
Wash hands, avoid crowds, now that's the drill.
Our lives and those of our near and dear,
Are endangered by this toxic spill.
Much information, a lot is clear,
Many countries have now gone downhill.
We must trust facts, not all that we hear,
Not flout protocol just for the thrill,
Firmly away from fright we should steer,
Resolute, this virus we can kill.

Madhulika Ghose, a Kolkata-born writer, did her schooling from Loreto House. Since childhood she developed love for English literature, the result of which are her several publications.*

~ ♦❁♦ ~

The Pangolin Review, Covid-19 Issue (April, 2020)