

Song of the sea

A gang of fishermen come down sailing their boats
With a beautiful song in their leaps,
The nice rhythmic words sound sweet
And touch people's heart with an ease.

It tells about the waves of 'blue'
While calm in nature, it's soothing to the eyes,
Like the prevalence of utter peace in life
That smoothness is desired, the flow without hazards likewise.

About the extent of fury too
As the traumatic stormy form brings disaster,
Some unwelcome, tragic phenomenon has resemblance with
Which are not certain but expected to be far, the farther.

Also the way they usually live
Even little things in their everyday living,
The happiness and sorrow pass through
Become lively in the way they sing.

The fishermen come down sailing together
With their lyric that tells their story,
The sea is their life as it tells
And hence it's the 'Song of the Sea'.

Saikat Gupta Majumdar is an amateur poet. He writes Poems, Rhymes and Captions both in English and Bengali. He belongs to a Bengali family. His schooling was done from 'The Scottish Church Collegiate School'. He completed his graduation from Calcutta University in 1992. Currently he's working in a private concern in 'Accounts Department'. His works have been published in various online journals so far. His dream is to get established as a poet.

~ ♦❁♦ ~

The Pangolin Review, Issue 14 (8 January, 2020)